

Come pulire il forno

This is what you 'll need:

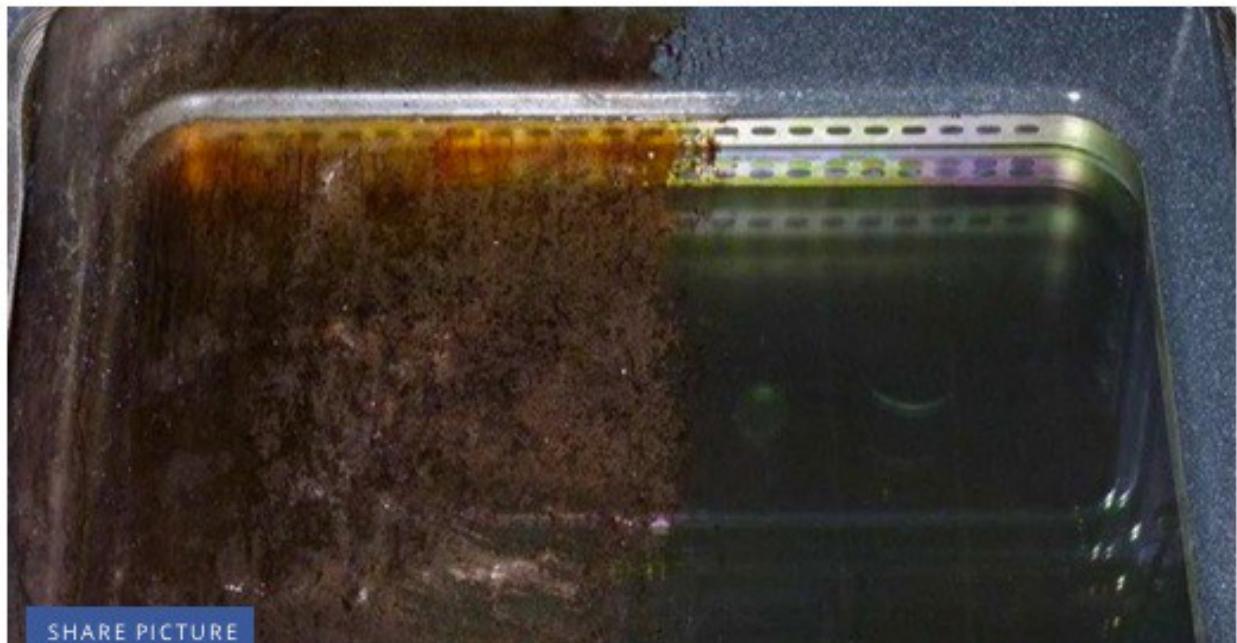

Water
Spray bottle
Baking soda
A rag
Vinegar
A small bowl

This is how you do it:

The oven:

1. Remove the oven racks
2. Mix a couple spoons of baking soda with some water in the bowl. The goal is to mix it into a paste that 's easily spreadable on the surfaces that need cleaning.
3. Spread the paste on the inside of the oven. The baking soda will turn brown.
4. Let sit over night. The baking soda will need at least 12 hours to work it 's magic.
5. The day after: Take a wet rag and wipe out as much of the baking soda as possible.
6. Put some vinegar in the spray bottle and spritz it on the surfaces where you still see residues of baking soda.

7. Wipe with a wet rag.
8. Put the rags back in to the oven.
9. Turn on the oven on a low temperature for 15-20 minutes to let it dry.

The window:

1. Take the baking soda and add some water to get a thick paste.
2. Apply the paste on the window.
3. Let sit for 30 minutes.
4. Use a rag to wipe the window clean.

Turn your beer bottles into glass cups!

Step 1 – Grab a beer bottle preferably with thick glass such as corona bottles. Tie a string just above the label on the empty bottle.

Step 2 – Keep the string tied and soak it in lighter fluid.

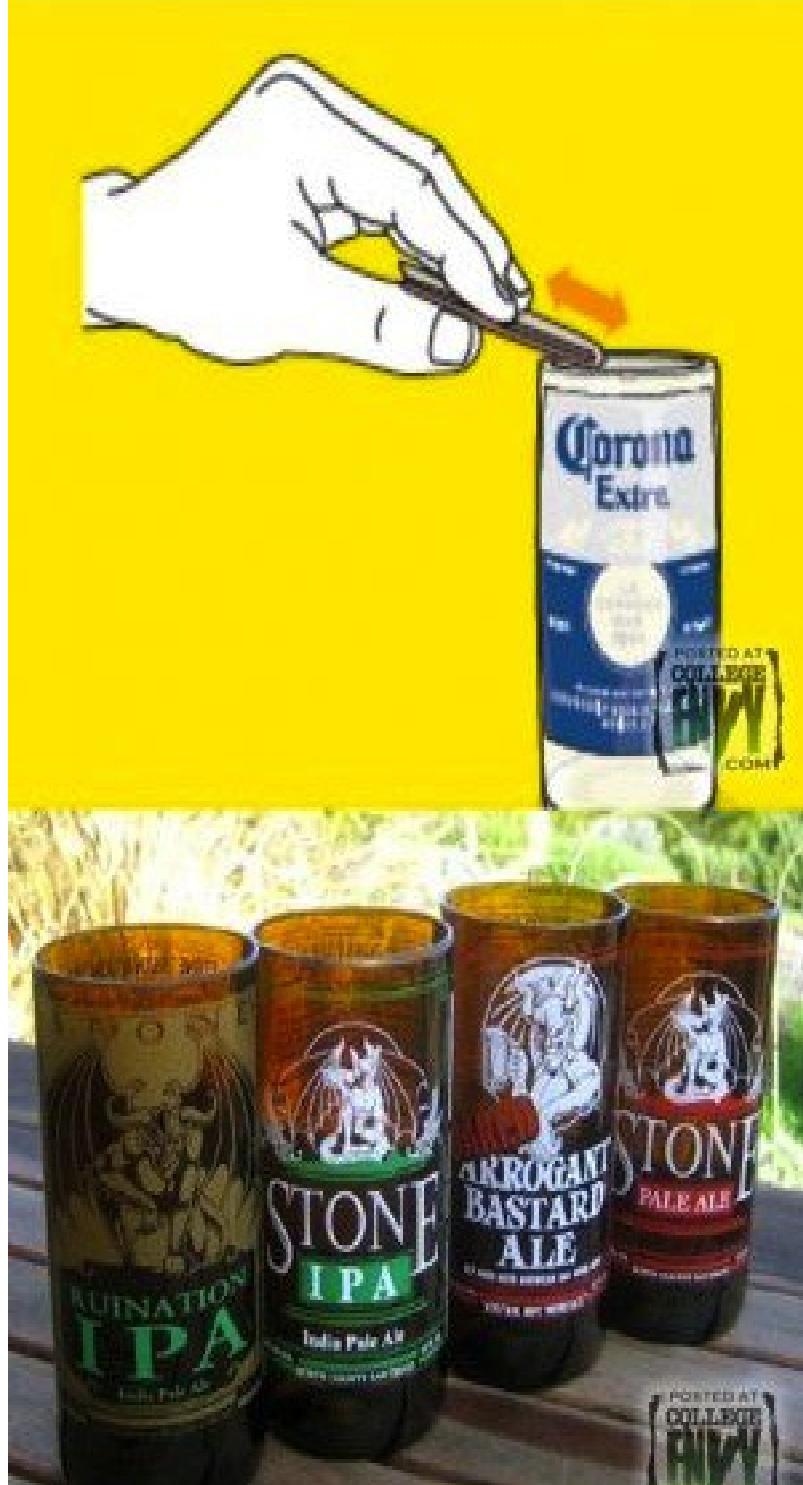

Step 3 - Put the string back on the bottle and hold it horizontally. Light the sting rotating the bottle so the flame spreads.

Step 4 - After you hear the crack, pour cold water on the string and the top of the bottle will fall off.

Step 5 - Now grab sandpaper and sand the edges of the bottle till it is smooth.

ROSEMARY MINT SHAVE CREAM

1/3 cup shea butter (72.67 grams)
1/3 cup virgin coconut oil (72.05 grams)
1/4 cup jojoba or sweet almond oil (54.88 grams)
10 drops rosemary essential oil
3-5 drops peppermint essential oil

In a small saucepan over low heat, combine the shea butter and coconut oil, stirring until just melted. Remove from the heat and transfer to a heat-safe bowl. Add in the jojoba oil and the essential oils. Stir to mix.

Place the bowl in the refrigerator and chill until solid. Remove from the refrigerator and whip using a hand beater or a stand mixer until light and fluffy. Spoon into a jar. Lid and keep in a cool, dry place.

Makes 8 ounces.

DIY EYE MAKEUP REMOVER

Mix together 1 teaspoon of coconut oil, 1/2 tsp tear-free baby shampoo, and water.

DIY

DRANO

Mix together 1 cup of baking soda, 1 cup of salt and 1/4 cup of cream of tartar. Measure about a quarter cup of the mixed powder and pour into your clogged drain. Pour two cups of boiling water into the drain, and let stand for about an hour, then run fresh water from the tap.

DIY

FOAMING HAND WASH

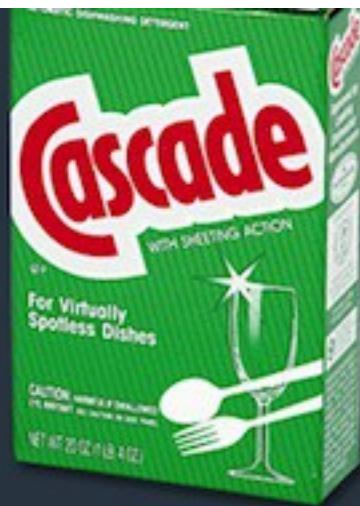

The secret is in the pump, not the soap, so never throw out an empty foam soap dispenser. Refill it with 1 teaspoon of liquid soap or dish washing liquid and fill the rest with water.

DIY

DISHWASHING DETERGENT

1 cup borax, 1 cup washing soda (or baking soda will work, as well), 1/2 cup citric acid, and 1/2 cup of kosher salt as a scrubbing agent. Use vinegar as your rinsing agent.

DIY

HAIR CONDITIONER

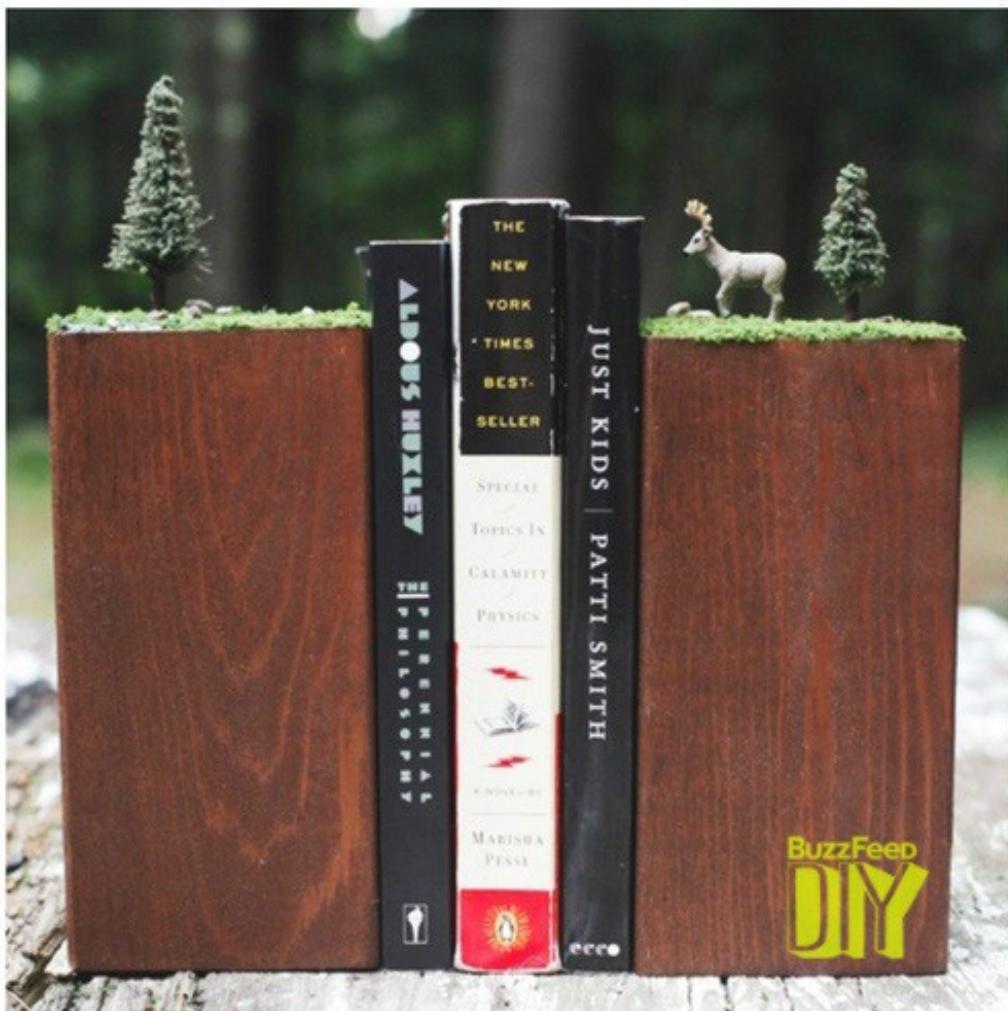

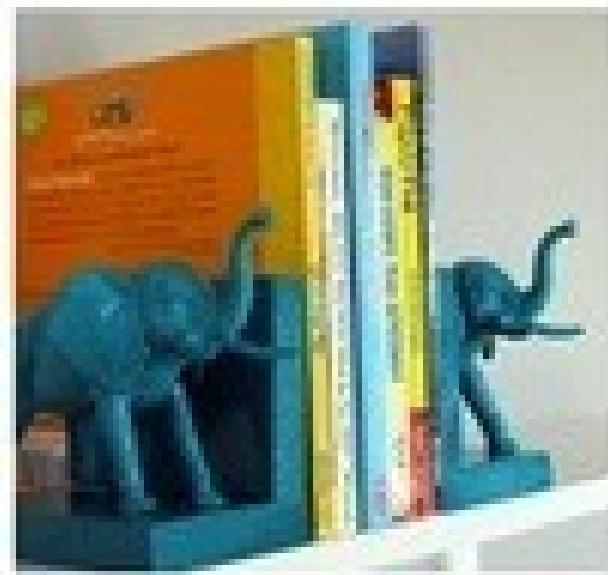

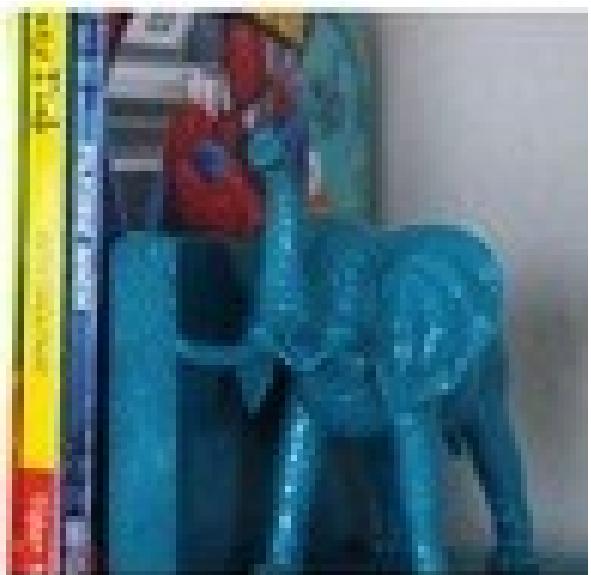

Mix together 1 can of coconut milk, 1 tablespoon of honey, and 1 tablespoon of olive oil.

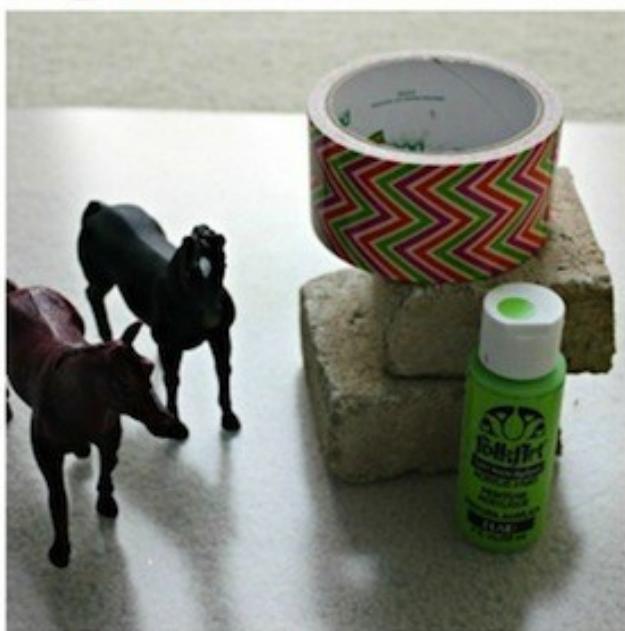

DIY WOODLAND DIORAMA BOOKENDS

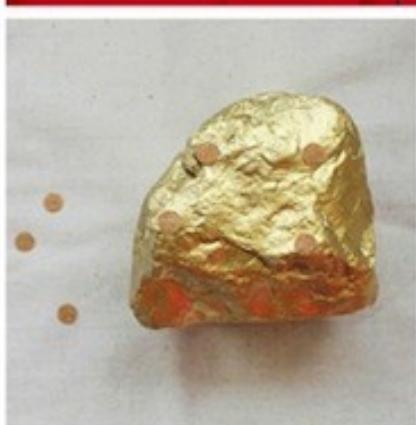

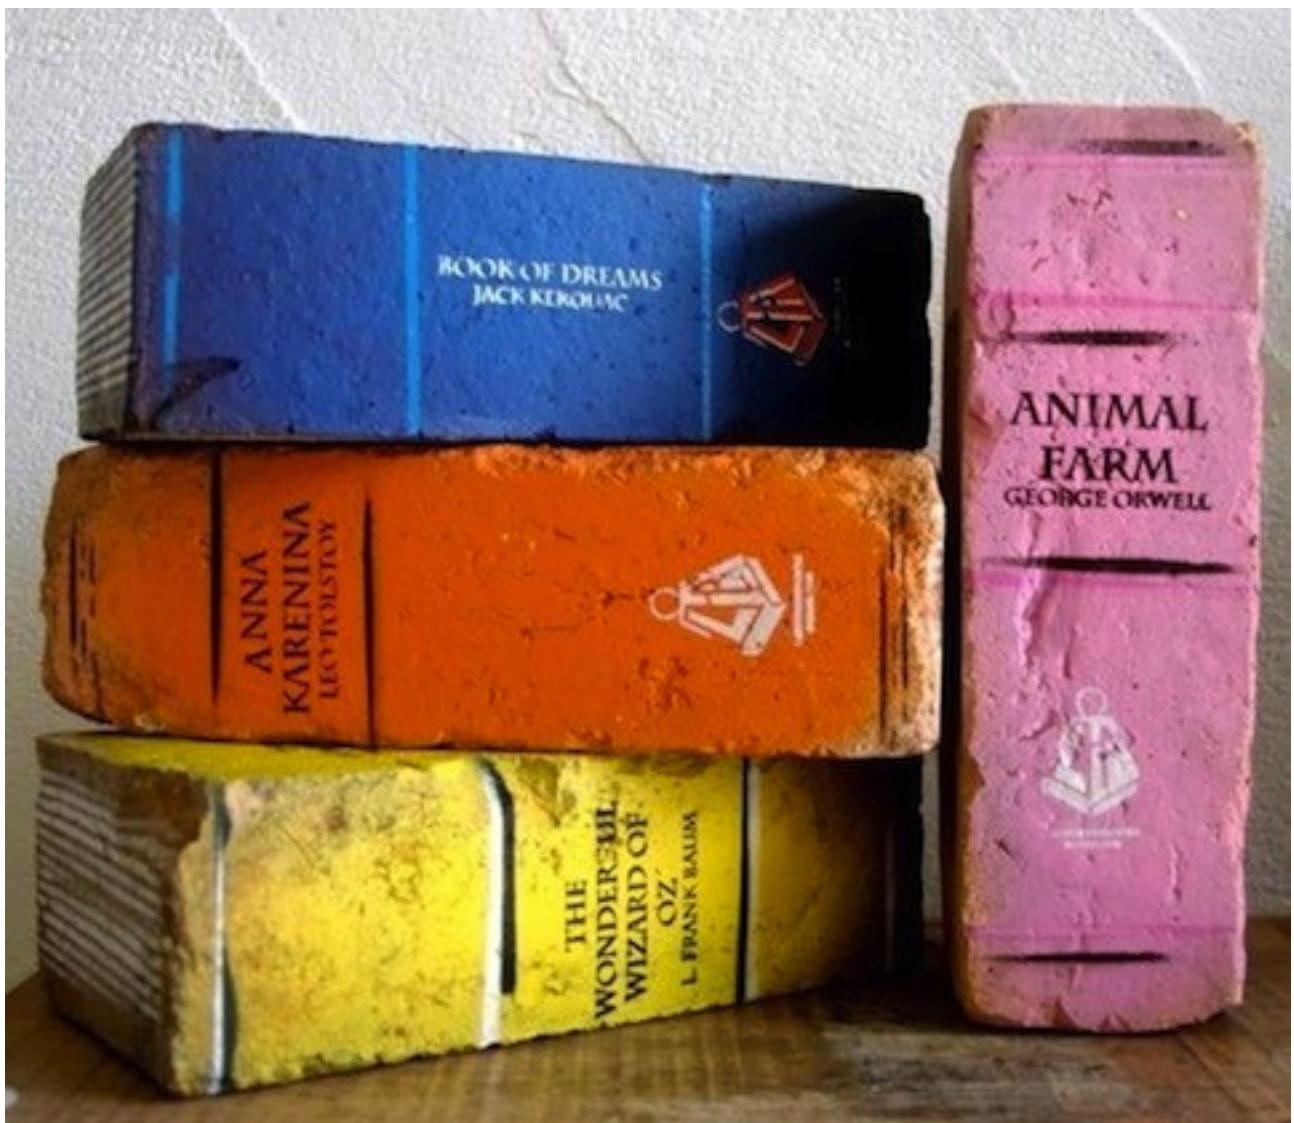

My bookend started it's life out as a Ferrero Rocher container. I know, too yummy. The MDF letter B came in a craft swap about a year ago.

When filling concrete into a hard container like this plastic one it's advised to coat the inside with some vegetable oil. I ended up breaking the container to get my bookend out but I think it would have been even harder without the oil.

So again after filling the two sides of the container with the concrete mix and with the B placed at the bottom of the lid I left it for 24 hours in the garage (don't leave it outside in the sun, it'll dry too quickly and won't cure well). Broke the mold, got the bookend out (had to do a bit of scraping to get the letter to emerge as some concrete had seeped in under) and sprayed with water several times over the next day.

I ended up painting the B white and added felt dots underneath so my bookend won't scratch the shelf it sits on.

Wrap a brick like you'd wrap a present, but with fabric and a hot glue gun. That's it.

- Cotton Batting { cleansing pleats to some }
- Paper Lanterns
- Flameless Candles{ Ideally Super Cool LED ones }
- Hot Glue Gun

1. Pull at the cotton batting until it looks fluffy, light, and cloud-like.

2. Then, hot glue it to the outside of the paper lantern in various places. { Make sure it's fluffed to your liking. }

3. Light the candles and stick them inside.

4. Hang the lantern wherever you'd like.

Bolle di sapone enormi

Start with two straws. Mine were really long, so I cut them down to about 6".

Thread a length of string through the straws, end to end, as though you were stringing beads. The length of your string determines the size of your bubbles. Mine was about 30" long and was a nice, manageable size for the kids. (TIP: If you're having problems threading the string through the straw, insert the string into one end and suck on the other end. You might end up with a mouthful of string, but it pulls it right through!)

Tie the ends of the string to form a large loop. Then, move the knot so it's inside one of the straws.

Take two more straws and insert them to form handles. (I actually had two different sized straws, but if you pinch the ends, you can still push in the straws for handles.)

Pour your bubble solution into the shallow container. Submerge the string and straws, then slowly lift up by the handles. Gently pull apart the handles until the strings are taut and then let the wind or your movement help a big bubble take shape. It took a few tries to get the hang of it, but the kids loved perfecting their techniques.

Recipe 1:

1 gallon hot water
1/4 cup glycerin (available in many pharmacies and craft stores)
1 cup dishwashing liquid

Gently mix all ingredients together. This seems to work best if you allow it to sit overnight in an open container before using for the first time.

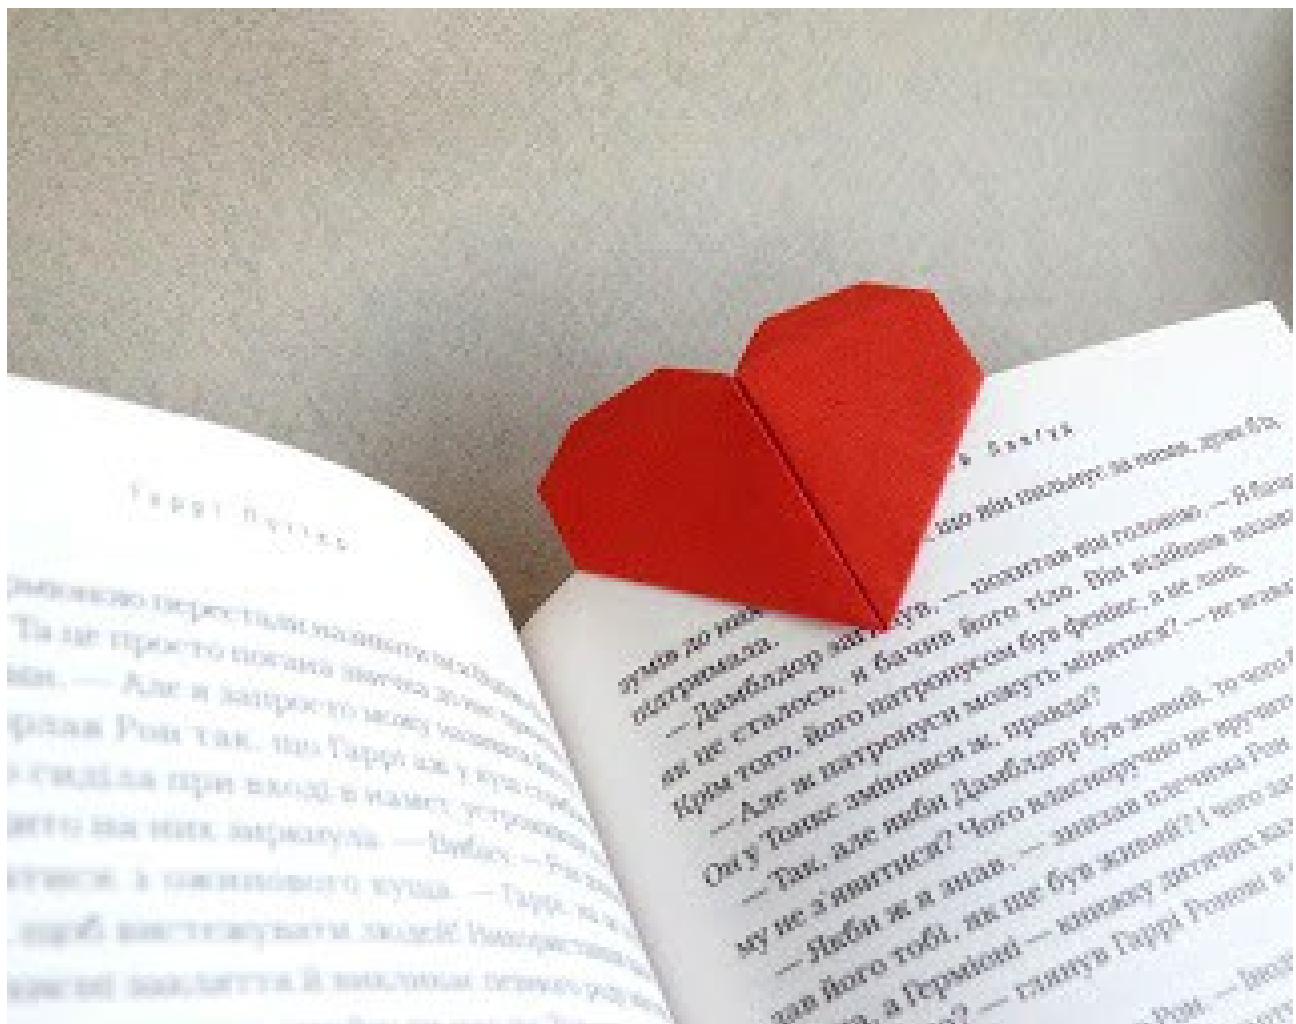

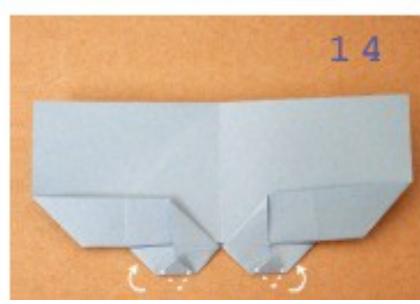

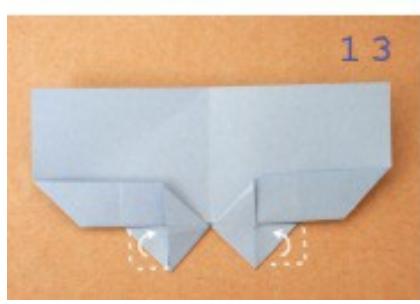

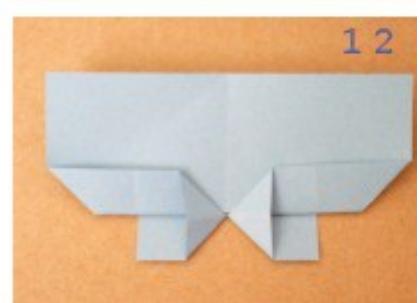

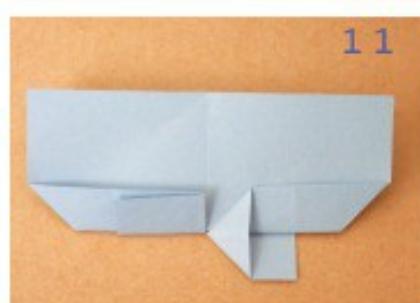

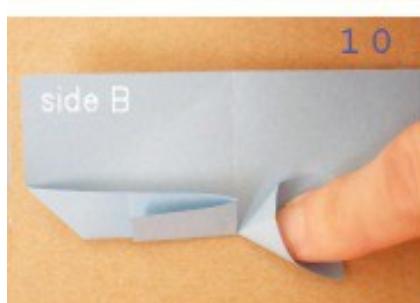

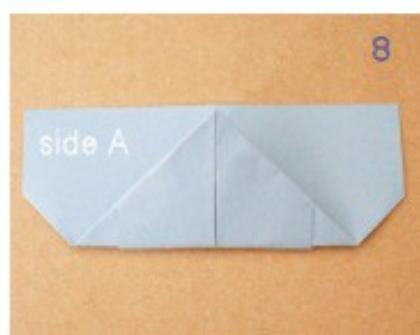

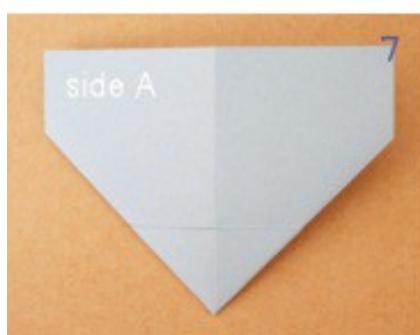

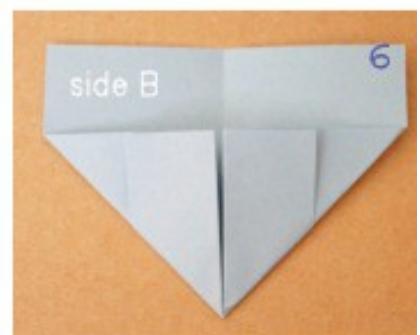

Recipe 2:

2 1/2 cups water
1/2 cup corn syrup
1/2 cup dishwashing liquid

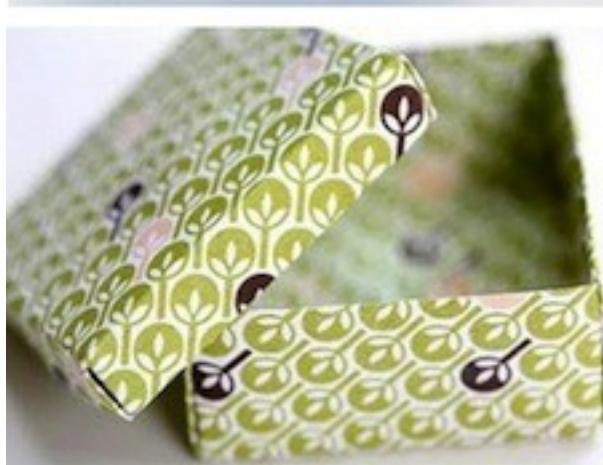

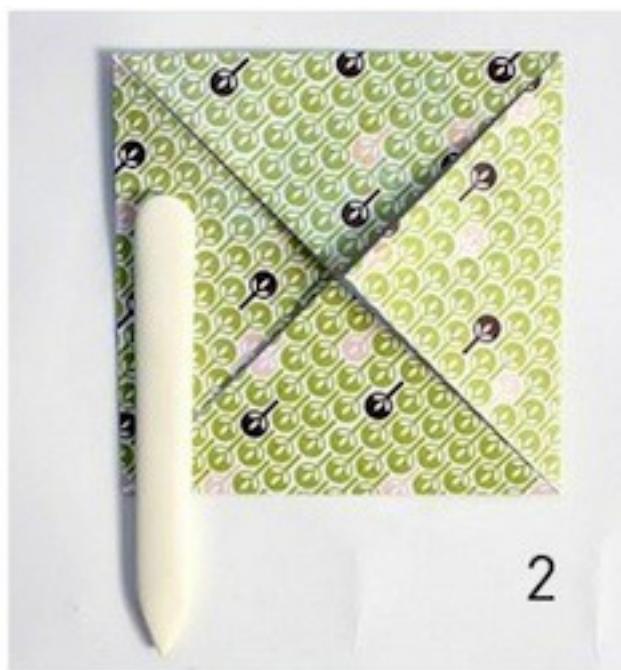

Put water and corn syrup in a bowl and microwave for 3-4 minutes. Stir to combine. Gently mix in dishwashing liquid.

All-Purpose Insect Pest Spray

A homemade spray for all-purpose garden pest control.

- Chop, grind, or liquefy one garlic bulb and one small onion.
- Add 1 teaspoon of powdered cayenne pepper and mix with 1 quart of water.
- Steep 1 hour, strain through cheesecloth, then add 1 tablespoon of liquid dish soap to the strained liquid; mix well.
- Spray your plants thoroughly, including leaf undersides.
- Store the mixture for up to 1 week in a labeled, covered container in the refrigerator.

Homemade Insecticidal Soap

Make the base:

1 head of garlic
1 tablespoon red pepper flakes
1 cup water

Make a batch of insecticidal soap:

2 tablespoons base mixture (above recipe)

1/2 teaspoon liquid dish soap
2 cups water

Make the base:

Remove the garlic cloves (you don't need to peel them though) from the head of garlic. Add the garlic, red pepper flakes and 1 cup water to a blender and process until it forms a runny paste.

Pour the mixture through a fine sieve to remove any small chunks of garlic or pepper flakes. The remaining water is your "base."

Yields about 1 cup of base.

Make a batch of insecticidal soap:

Mix 2 tablespoons of the base mixture, with 1/2 teaspoon liquid dish soap and 2 cups water. Combine in a squirt bottle and spray away!

Pasta polimerica (fimo)

- 3/4 cup white glue
- 1 cup cornstarch
- 2 tablespoons mineral oil (I used baby oil but reportedly even vaseline will work)
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- Non-stick pot
- Wooden spoon

Steps

Add cornstarch to glue in a nonstick pot. Mix together and then add mineral oil and lemon juice. Blend well.

Cook over low flame stirring pretty much constantly (you can take a quick break or two if your arm gets tired, which it will) until the mixture resembles mashed potatoes.

Remove from heat! Squirt a little additional mineral oil around the top of your mashed potato mass and with your hands, remove it from the pot. Knead until smooth. It's best to do this while it's still as hot as you can handle.

Pull off a bit to work with and put the rest in a re-sealable plastic bag with the top about half-way open until it's cooled down a bit. Then seal the bag (with as little air in it as you can) and store in the fridge.

Let dry about 2-3 days, then paint, or not.

Homemade Amazing Deodorant:

Adapted from Passionate Homemaking

The original recipe calls for either corn starch or arrowroot powder, but since I had both, I used both. Some folks complained about irritation in the comments due to the amount of baking soda- and found that using less helped. I have had no problem with the amount of baking soda so I will continue with these proportions. Also the coconut oil can go from solid to liquid depending on the storage temperature. Mine stays at a perfect semi-solid in my bathroom, and melts to an oil when I rub between my fingers.

5-6 tablespoons coconut oil

1/8 cup arrowroot powder

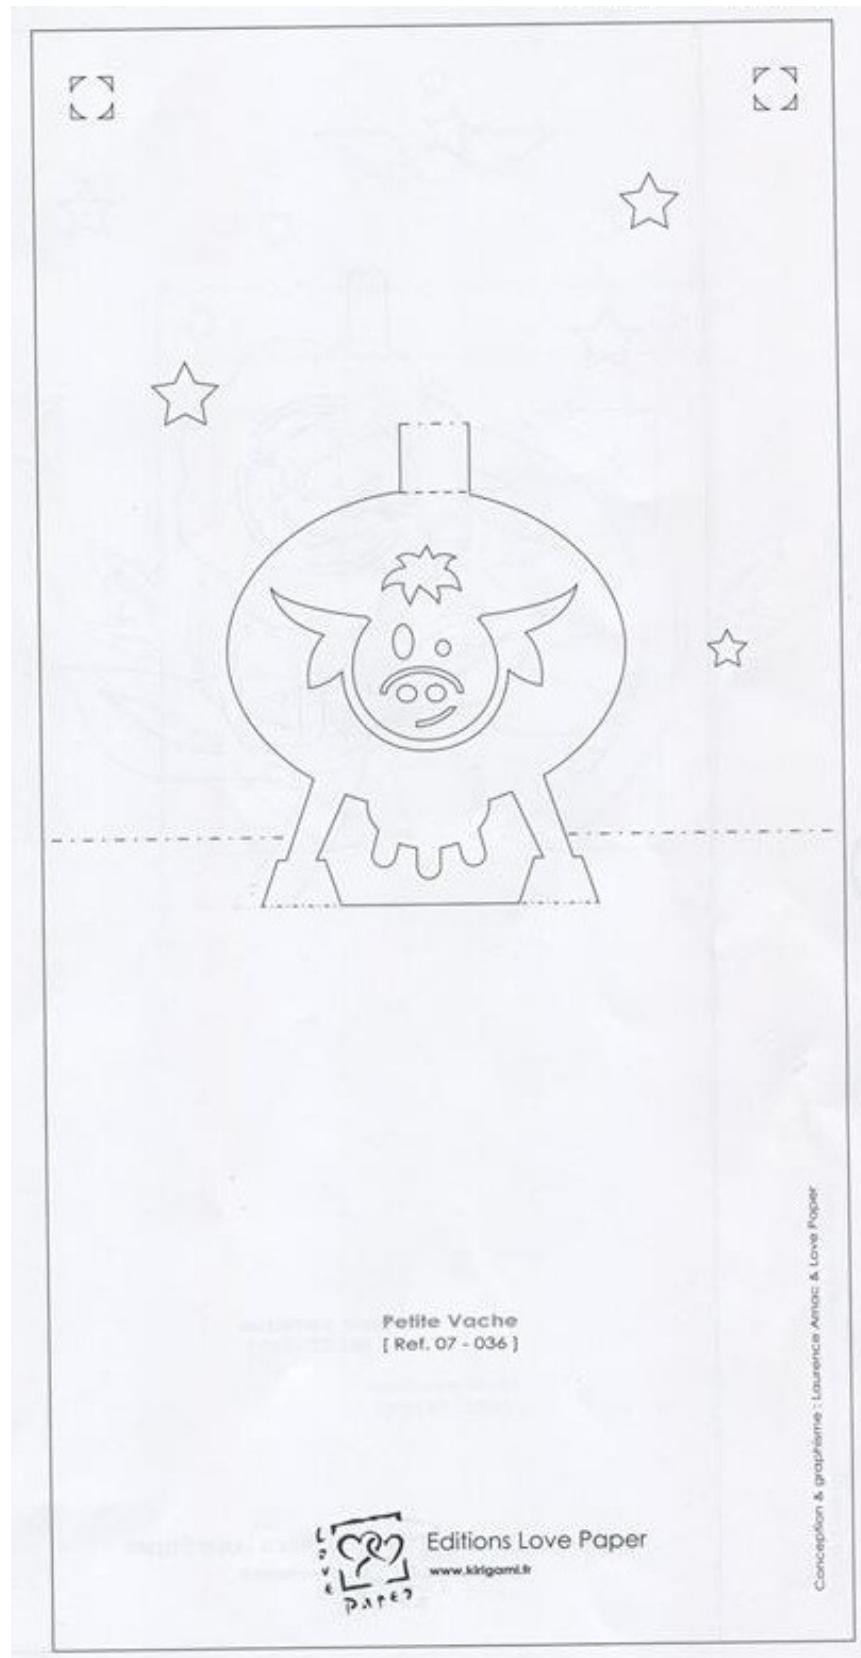

1/8 cup cornstarch

1/4 cup baking soda

Several drops of bergamot oil [optional]

Mix the powders together in a jar and slowly add the coconut oil until you have a "pomade" consistency and powders are mostly dissolved. Add a few drops of oil until it has a lovely hint of scent.
